MOVIE: Farewell, My Queen

Farewell, My Queen is a 2012 French drama film directed by Benoît Jacquot and based on the novel by Chantal Thomas. The film stars Diane Kruger as the Queen, Léa Seydoux, and Virginie Ledoyen. The movie begins early in the day on July 14, 1789 at the royal palace at Versailles. In the rat-swarming servants' quarters, a young woman named Sidonie Laborde slaps at mosquito bites, hurries through her toilet, and runs toward her appointment with Marie Antoinette. In the movie, she is the official reader to the queen, and this position gives her a limited stature and some access to the royal life of luxurious decadence. Over the next three days, we see life at Versailles exclusively through the eyes of Sidonie Laborde, a young servant who reads aloud to the queen.

MOVIE: Passion

Passion is a 2012 erotic thriller film written and directed by Brian De Palma, starring Rachel McAdams and Noomi Rapace. It is the English-language remake of Alain Corneau's 2010 thriller film Love Crime, but with the ending greatly altered. Christine is on the corporate ladder of an international advertising agency. When her boss betrays her, both professionally and romantically, their rivalry leads to murder.
